Hi Everyone,

Wow, we had a great Fall Seminar this year. There were lots of people, we even had new ones, we learned a lot. I am sure that the Spring Seminar, May 1, 2010, will be just as great. The weather finally cooperated for the day.

I hope that all of you had a great Halloween and may you have many blessings for Thanksgiving and Christmas and everything else between now and the first of 2010. This is the last newsletter for 2009.

In this newsletter you are getting 10 transfers that are going in the Line as of November 1, 2009. Some of them are new ones and some of them are old ones that Ginger has brought back into the Line.

The last two (2) quilt blocks in each of the 'Quilt Blocks of the Month' quilts – are available at this time so you can order the ones you need to finish your quilts and hopefully get them quilted for that gift you were making them for – or you can order the whole set of this year's quilt blocks under B&F'09 – WAQ'09 – WDQ'09. The price per quilt block figures out the same either way. For the complete sets the price is $30.00 for each set.

With all the many holidays coming up soon, be sure to remind your customers and friends what a wonderful gift a hobby is for anyone. The Primary Kit (K004) or the Starter Kit (K003) will make a perfect gift for anyone. Add a transfer and something for them to paint it on and you have a great way to help someone pass the time, relieve stress, make gifts, get started in a new hobby or take up an old hobby that they loved earlier in their life.

For younger ones, the K004 and T4533 with a piece of material to put the bookmarks on will give them the chance to make bookmarks to give to their friends and teachers in the future. After they get the bookmarks painted cut them out a little ways out from the line, then pull the threads out almost to the line to make a fringe around the bookmark. The gift is fancy and useful and gives the young one self pride. Teaches them that gift giving is not just about money, but about caring enough to give your time and effort to make someone happy.

Next year Ginger will be coming out with a lot of Transfer Paks. These are packages of multiple transfers. Some of them will be just bringing back some of the old transfers that she has been asked to bring back into the Line and others will be new transfers that will go along with them. Ginger will be bringing back a lot of the Indian transfers, both the Dancers and others that have to do with this important part of the American Heritage. The American Indians have taught a lot of things to others, both in their belief systems and in the ways that they live their lives. One of the most important of these things is the way they look at the Land and what taking care of it means to them and should mean to all of us.
